

Council denies request for guest home

By Lynne Locke

The Upland City Council last week denied a request to establish a family-type facility for six retarded women. Councilman Hal Bailin cast the only vote for approval of the guest home, which was opposed by 143 homeowners in the neighborhood.

Madelyn Hayes had requested approval to open the guest home in an existing house at 965 N. Second Ave. in a highway commercial district north of single-family homes.

In denying the permit the council cited safety hazards caused by high traffic on Second Avenue and Foothill Boulevard, the small size of the proposed house and incompatibility with the adjacent residential area.

Councilman George Gibson, who lives in the neighborhood, said approval of the guest home would be the first step in allowing commercial zoning on the rest of the street. A home for mentally retarded people would not be a good buffer between commercial and residential zoning, he added.

After hearing residents express fears for the safety of neighborhood children and elderly people, Ms. Hayes said community residents would not be so afraid of retarded people if they learned more about retardation.

She noted some of the women who would live in the home ride local buses to jobs in Upland, Montclair and Ontario. The community should welcome them and give them a chance at a normal life, added Ms. Hayes.

Councilwoman Ina Petokas said the purpose of rehabilitating mentally retarded people in a residential atmosphere would be defeated if they were not accepted by neighbors.

After denying the guest home, the council directed the Planning Commission to study rezoning the property commercial - professional.

Also last week the council reversed a previous decision and approved a zone change from agricultural to apartments for a 2.4-acre parcel south of Foothill Boulevard between Benson and Mountain avenues.

The council originally had approved the change by a 3-2 vote at the Aug. 18 council meeting. The first reading of the zone change was defeated Sept. 2 when Bailin was absent.

Council members were concerned about the awkward shape of the parcel and the over-abundance of apartments in Upland.

At Bailin's request, the council reconsidered the zone change and approved the apartment zoning by a 3-2 vote with council members Gibson and Petokas dissenting. The change will be enacted after its second reading Oct. 6.

In other action last week the council:

—Approved a conditional use permit for a New Orleans-style dinner house and cocktail lounge at the northeast corner of Mountain Avenue and Arrow Highway adjacent to existing apartments.

—Approved a zone change from agricultural to single-family residential for 10 acres at the southeast corner of Mountain Avenue and 14th Street. Minimum lot size is 10,000 square feet.

—Approved Theta Cable Television rate increases from $5 per month to $6.95 for 25 channels. Installation and deposit fee increases also were approved.

—Approved a mid-block median break on Mountain Avenue for left turns into the proposed Mountain Plaza shopping center at Mountain Avenue and 16th Street. The opening will not be constructed until Mountain Avenue is widened and developed, according to City Engineer Fred Blanchard. Council members Gibson and Petokas opposed the median break as unnecessary.

—Approved a tentative tract map for 62 lots on 19 acres east of Mountain Avenue between 18th and 19th streets in a single-family residential zone with a minimum lot size of 10,000 square feet.

—Approved a tentative tract map for 62 lots on 20 acres northeast of Wilson Avenue and Shannon Street. The area, which has not yet been annexed by Upland, is zoned single-family residential with a minimum lot size of 10,000 square feet.

Vu family prepares for a new life in Upland

By Lynne Locke

Nine former Saigon residents are among local Vietnamese refugees preparing for a new life in the United States.

Finding jobs and learning to speak fluent English are top priority for the nine-member Vu family, sponsored by Nelson and Bobbie LaCrosse of Upland.

Vu Quant Loc (Vietnamese family names are given first with person names last) is planning to attend barber college to learn U.S.-style haircuts and obtain his barber's license. Loc also can do janitorial work.

He worked as camp barber during the family's four-month stay at Camp Pendleton. Before leaving Saigon Loc supervised 50 workers in the Ministry of Labor. Along with other family members, he studied English during evening classes at Camp Pendleton.

Loc and his wife Nguyen Thi Nghe have seven children ranging from 7 to 19 years old. The oldest daughter, 19-year-old Bich, is looking for full-time work and has begun working in the kitchen at a local restaurant. The other Vu children include sisters Thuan, 17 years old, and Thu, 13, and brothers Ming, 15; Tuan, 11; Toan, 10; and Thang, 7.

Thuan and Minh attend Upland High School. Thu goes to Upland Junior High School, and Tuan, Toan and Thang attend Foothill Knolls Elementary School jobs.

Sept. 10 was a hectic day in the LaCrosse household as six Vu children and the four LaCrosse children all prepared for the first day of school.

After school and on the weekends the house and yard are alive with Vu, LaCrosse and neighborhood children riding skateboards and tricycles, and playing with the LaCrosse dog Spookie.

Mrs. LaCrosse said the children all get along well. Spookie, who is blind, has had the hardest time adjusting "to all the confusion and does her best to keep out from under everyone's feet," she added.

In addition to learning English, the Vus have been learning new customs. They celebrated their first U.S. holiday at a Labor Day picnic and swim party given by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Keeran, who are cosponsoring the family. The party included a game of volleyball and music performed by Keeran and his son Bob.

The LaCrosse and Vus also are enjoying a cultural exchange in cooking as Nghe learns U.S.-style cooking and the LaCrosse learn about Oriental rice.

Grocery shopping is also a new experience for the Vus. In Vietnamese markets, shoppers pay for each item instead of taking everything to a central check-out stand, according to Bich.

Nelson LaCrosse said the Vietnamese choose fresh foods or items packaged in glass and other see-through containers. They tend to ignore canned goods which were not available to them in Vietnam, he noted.

The LaCrosse family has received help from many people in sponsoring the Vus. A clerk at the Department of Motor Vehicles in Upland gave Loc an oral exam for his learner's permit when he had difficulty with written English.

Others have contributed food, always a heavy expense for a household containing 15 people. Furniture and kitchen utensils are being collected to prepare for the Vu family's own home.

Bill and Angie Solylo and Robert and Bonnie Quaintance also have helped with many of the problems of settling a large family in a new city and registering six children for school. The Quaintances also sponsor a family from Camp Pendleton — Mr. and Mrs. Thai Ngo and four children who now live in Ontario.

The Vus and LaCrosse met through Bonnie Quaintance who met Bich when the Ngos returned to Camp Pendleton to visit friends. Mrs. Quaintance said more sponsors are needed to aid other refugee families.

The Vus have a built-in social life supplied by the LaCrosse family and other Vietnamese families who have settled in the West End. But the search for jobs continues to be an important concern.

Information on job possibilities, especially for Loc and Bich, can be mailed to the Vus in care of the Upland News, 886 W. Foothill Blvd., Suite E, Upland, CA 91786.

Sea shell exhibit features textures

By Don Ham
Editor

James "Skip" Pahl, coordinator of the Rex W. Wignall Museum-Gallery at Chaffey College, chose 185 of a collection of more than 100,000 sea shells owned by Clarence Stewart of Riverside. He added a unique sound and light system, an air-conditioned room and his artistic perception to put together the museum's current exhibit, "The Sea Shell."

The shells, chosen for texture, color and design are displayed in an undersea-type environment.

Blue and green lights are reflected from moving mylar sheets suspended from the gallery's ceiling. The reflections move constantly, like the surface of moving water does in a swimming pool or the ocean. The coolness of the gallery combines with electronic music and the moving colored lights to create this undersea atmosphere and, says Pahl, helps the museum-goer focus on the shell exhibit.

"I wanted to make it kind of a cool, underwater world, exactly opposite to the hot smoggy weather outside," he said. "When you enter, you know you're in another world."

Pahl said he created the exhibit, which is not a scientific collection of shells, to see what has fascinated people so long.

The exhibit "is designed to offer the museum-goer a glimpse of the myriad textures, the subtle colors, the exquisite proportions and the splashy graphics with which the shell world delights the human eye," he said.

Some examples are scallops of varying sizes and colors, including oranges, yellows and purples, "colors you'd never imagine would be in the ocean"; a triton, used as a war trumpet by the Polynesians; and the chambered nautilus, used as a cup by ancient cultures and copied in ceramics as civilizations learned to use clay.

"I would hope this would be a real inspiration to potters or sculpturers, anyone who deals with textures," Pahl said.

Some of the shells exhibited are rare, worth more than $500, and some would cost only 15 cents if you purchased them. But all show unusual shapes, textures, and colors, he said.

Archeologists have found evidence from early times people have been fascinated with sea shells, Pahl said. "Initially their uses were purely utilitarian, because shells made excellent vessels, fishhooks, awls and needles, as well as tasty and nutritious dinners."

"The beautiful translucent quality of shells naturally led to more decorative uses," he continued. "From the elaborate mother-of-pearl screens of China and the inlaid masks of Alaskan Tlingits, to the sensitive cameos of Mediterranean Europe, the sea shell has served as beautiful ornamentation."

Primitive societies have used shells for money, including wampum in North America and heshi in the southwest, he added.

The shell has been reflected in art and architecture since the earliest Oriental temples, Pahl said.

"The Renaissance era revived Greek and Roman appreciation for the beautiful, and the later Baroque and Rococo periods saw the shell used in a most elaborate and decorative manner."

"Even in our time, the great architects Wright and Gaudi created buildings using the sea shell as a basis of design," Pahl explained.

Stewart's collection was begun almost 60 years ago. It includes shells from all over the world with emphasis on Australia, tropical American and Western Pacific areas.

A 15-minute film, "Sea Shell Animals," will be shown to museum visitors.

The exhibit is open to the public. Gallery hours are noon-4 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, noon-4 p.m. Friday and 2-4 p.m. Sunday. Group tours may be arranged by calling 987-1737 or 822-4484, ext. 337.

Members of the Museum-Gallery Auxiliary will show their work at the gallery Oct. 12-Nov. 2. Included will be wood work, sculpture, pottery and painting. An IBM exhibit on the scientific inventions of Leonardo da Vinci is scheduled Nov. 9-26.

Assistance League of Upland

Patroness Tea set

The Assistance League of Upland will honor patroness, life and sustaining members at the 20th Patroness Tea 3-5 p.m. Oct. 2 at the home of Mrs. Dwight Bert of Upland.

The afternoon event honors the many women whose financial contributions and moral support sustain the league's philanthropies including the Girls' Club and Boys' Club of Cucamonga, the San Antonio Community Hospital Dental Center, and Santa Claus Inc.

The site for the tea, often called the "Cracker Jack House," was built in 1931 for Mr. and Mrs. Eckstein. Eckstein owned the active interest in Cracker Jack and invented its moisture-proof packaging.

The house was vacant from 1963 to 1974 when it was purchased by the Berts who began to remodel it. The house, which retains the Spanish style of architecture and interior decoration, has 15 rooms, seven baths, nine gas furnaces and a full basement.

Mrs. Del Hensley is planning the tea assisted by Mrs. J.T. Waller. Coordinators include the Mmes. Alan MacCarthy, ways and means; C. Richard Day, invitations; Charles Sauls, responses; Philip Savage, publicity; Homer Briggs, guest book; and John Frost, name tags.

Others are the Mmes. Alfred Dakin, clean up; Donald Erbstrasser, parking; Dean Smothers, hostesses; Thomas Harris, decorations; J. Lewis Liesch, china and silver; Clarence Scholl, dishes; and Richard Houtz, food.

Also the Mmes. Donald White, kitchen-dining coordination; John Sullivan, cookbooks; Milton Bracey, thank yous; and Leonard Brotzman, tea and coffee. Mrs. Glen Fisher, aided by the Assisteens, is in charge of the punchbowl. Mrs. James Garlepp will coordinate displays with the help of Mrs. John Schnepf and Mrs. Wolfgang Koessler.

Meditation center opens

A center for instruction in the Transcendental Meditation technique has recently opened in Montclair, according to Patrick Sessions, World Plan Chariman for this area. The address of the center is 9684 Central Ave., in the DiCarlo Center, corner of Central and San Bernardino Street.

The TM center has a wide variety of activities planned for the fall, according to Sessions. Introductory lectures will be held regularly every Wednesday at noon and 7:30 p.m. For those already in the TM program, weekly advanced lectures will be held Sundays at 8 p.m.

Checking hours will be Monday-Thursday between 10:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m., and 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. For an appointment, call the center at 621-4906. Office hours at the center are Monday-Thursday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and evenings from 7 to 9 p.m.

In October, according to Sessions, the Montclair TM center will be offering a course in the science of creative intelligence.

Explorers announce expo

Since 1960, the explorer program of the Boy Scouts of America has taken on a contemporary look different than its companion programs of cub scouting and boy scouting. This new look emphasizes career exploration in its work of developing character, citizenship and physical and mental fitness. The units, called Explorer "Posts," are sponsored by institutions as varied as the subjects they specialize in, ranging from steel plants to hospitals.

The Old Baldy Council currently has posts in law enforcement, medicine, aviation, music, social service, backpacking, emergency services, boxing, sailing, military science, industrial crafts and industrial technology. These co-ed Explorer Posts are open to youths between the ages of 14 and 21.

Exploring Posts shows the community what is happening by holding explorer expos in the greater Pomona Valley area. In the San Bernardino County, the Expo will be held at Montclair Plaza, Saturday, Sept. 27, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Posts participating at Montclair will be military science, Jeff Schlosser, advisor; sailing, Ed Fields, advisor; aviation, Roy Smith, advisor; two backpacking posts, Gary Johnson and Wyn Walker, advisors; and music, Terry Kingesdahl, advisor.

A Bicentennial Parade is being sponsored by the Cucamonga-Alta Loma Junior Women's Club and

Writers' study

A writer's market course will be offered free by Chaffey College at the old Upland library on Thursday evenings from Sept. 18 until Dec. 18.

Hours for the adult education class will be 7-10 p.m. The old Upland library is located at 123 East D Street.

the Alta Loma Chamber of Commerce Oct. 18. Both groups are calling for entries from service groups, scouts, bands, local school clubs and anyone who wants to enter a float, decorate a car or a wagon.

The parade will start at 10 a.m. from Alta Loma High School on Baseline Road and go east to Archibald Avenue, then south to Central School on Archibald Avenue.

Several local organizations have already entered the parade. They are: the Cucamonga Junior High School Band, the Cucamonga-Alta Loma Women's Club, the Foothill Fire Protection District, County Supervisor Daniel D. Mikesell, Pomona Valley Model A Club, Stardust Equestrians, Hashi Atomi Baton and Drum Corps, Sugar and Spice Majorettes, Juniorettes, West End Search and Rescue Team, Auto Club, Cucamonga Lions Club, Cucamonga Rotary, Olympians, Midget Majorettes, Schlosser Forge Co., Vengentantes, Foothill Pre-school, St. Margaret's Drill Team, Alta Loma High School Band, Smokey the Bear, and the Hinkley, Ca. Drill Team.

BICENTENNIAL PARADE — Cucamongans Donna Morose and Flash take a break from their usual job of delivering papers to join the old-fashioned tricomunity Bicentennial parade 10 a.m. Oct. 18. The parade from Alta Loma High School to Central School is sponsored by the Alta Loma Community Chamber of Commerce. Trophies will be presented in five categories: band, majorette and drill team, equestrian, organization and individual. For information call parade coordinator Donna Reynolds, 987-7836. Upland kegler 9th

Steve Schwertfeger of Upland, formerly of Pomona, placed ninth in the 15th Cal-State Masters bowling tournament at Stockton.

Schwertfeger averaged 216 pins for 18 games, winning three matches for $108 in prize match money and $380 overall.

Gordon Lindfors of Montclair was one of five non-qualifiers with a 1217 count. He received $40.

Cliff McNealy of Castro Valley captured the title with 12 wins and amassed

$1,510 in total prize money. Lee Taylor (San Diego), Bob Morris (Stockton) and Tom Long (La Habra) finished 2-3-4.

The Masters champion was named "Rookie of the Year" in last winter's tour.

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR INCOME TAX LEGALLY!

If you are not presently covered by a pension or retirement fund where you work, you can now save up to 15% of your annual earned income (or $1,500, whichever is less) in a Mutual Savings Individual Retirement Account (IRA), free of Federal income tax until you retire. Interest earned on your retirement plan is also tax-deferred.

This plan is easy to understand, does not require a lot of money, is fully insured, and can be adjusted to meet individual needs. You will save more money...earn more interest...take no risk...pay less tax with a Mutual Savings IRA account.

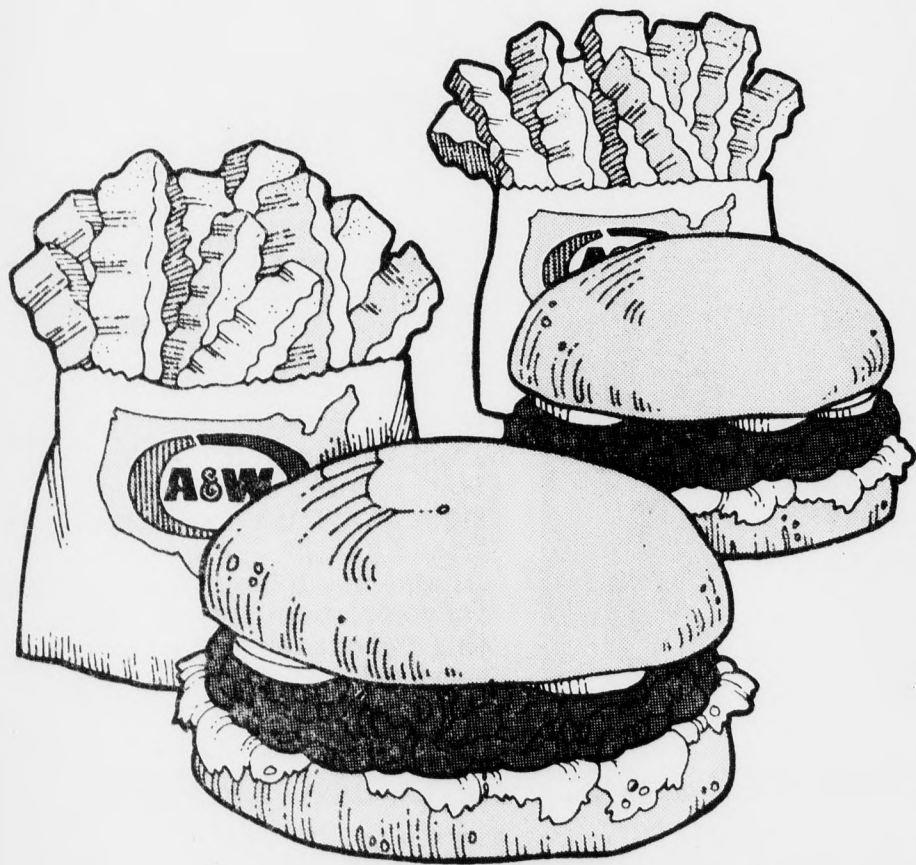

If you are self-employed, you are eligible for an HR-10 account (Keogh Plan), and can save up to 15% (or $7,500, whichever is less) from your net earnings each year, free of Federal income tax until you retire. Interest earned on this retirement plan is also tax-deferred.

Menno-Choralaies ready for season

The Menno-Choralaies, a group of Christian men from Upland, Ontario, Pomona and surrounding areas, are preparing for their ninth consecutive sacred concert season. Concerts are given in various churches and organizations and on radio and television in Southern California.

Members of this singing group represent various churches and are engaged in different occupations. The ages vary from high school to retired men.

ARE YOU A PYRO-MONEYAC?

Once upon a time, the very wealthy used greenbacks to light their cigars. They were the original Pyro-Moneyacs.

No one would literally burn money today.

But if you're not getting the highest possible return on the money you invest, you are a Pyro-Moneyac.

There are two kinds of return you should think about. One is interest. We pay the highest rates you can receive on insured savings. Higher than any bank pays.

The other is the dollar value to you of the many free services including a safe deposit box, bank checking account, money orders and traveler's cheques, available to Mutual savers who maintain a qualifying balance.

Don't burn it. Earn it, with us.

Upland man helps keep Marines high

FALLON, Nev. — It's a rare man who can do the job he teaches and, when necessary, teach the job he does. Lewis A. LeBlanc, 1255 N. Third Ave., Upland, is one of those men.

In civilian life, he instructs airline and military personnel in the maintenance of aerospace and defense products manufactured by his employer, B.F. Goodrich. He carries the title of service engineer.

In the Marine Air Reserve, the Upland resident carries the title of master sergeant and finds that his duties are not all that different from what he does in civilian life. He is maintenance chief for Marine Attack Squadron 134, an element of all-Reserve Marine Air Group 46, which currently is undergoing two weeks of active duty training at the U.S. Naval Air Station, Fallon, Nev. Working with the younger Marine Air Reservists, it is his responsibility to keep the squadron's A-4C Skyhawk attack jets operating safely and efficiently.

To accomplish this, LeBlanc finds that he must communicate with young adults, a challenge at which many fail.

He has volunteered countless hours in time and effort in support of the PPK lists '75 dates for signing

Local youngsters are "dusting off" their footballs and loosening up throwing arms for the 1975 Punt, Pass & Kick competition.

The program is co-sponsored locally by the Montclair Recreation Dept. and Citrus Motors of Ontario, in addition to the National Football League.

Since the program started in 1961, 11.5 million youths have participated and this year's prospectus is over 12 million.

Registration is set through Oct. 4. Applications may be made at Citrus Motors, 835 W. Holt, or the Montclair Rec Dept., 5111 Benito, 1-5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Doug Eichorn, director of Ontario High School, is director of the local program.

Further information may be obtained by calling 626-8571, between 1-5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

You're Never Too Old To Hear Better

Chicago, Ill. — A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

Send for this non-operating model now. Wear it in the privacy of your own home to see how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 5912, Beltone Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria Street, Chicago, Ill. 60646.

working with the school and the kids."

The master sergeant can hardly be considered their peer. He enlisted in the regular Marine Corps in 1943, seeing service in World War II. After six years, he transferred to the Marine Air Reserve and consequently has piled up more than 32 years of service toward Reserve retirement, for which a reservist becomes eligible to collect at age 60. Actually, it is against policy for Marine Air Reservists to be allowed to go beyond 30 years, but LeBlanc was extended with specific permission of the Commandant of the Marine Corps, evidence of the excellence of the work he does for the Corps one weekend per month and for two weeks each summer.

"I've raised three children," he said, "and they're all in their twenties now, but I think I really learned to understand and to communicate with youngsters as a result of my work at the school. I have been able to carry this over into my civilian job, where I often work with people much younger than myself. But it has been especially valuable in my work for the Marines.

"You can't get the most out of people by flaunting your stripes. Instead, I try to apply reason, logic, understanding, and firmness in no particular order. It's whatever is call for in a given situation."

Whatever his system, the master sergeant has been able to keep 11 Skyhawks ready to fly

Get ready for fall with two quick cheese casseroles

Formaggio Skillet Casserole

1/2 pound lean ground beef
1 medium onion, chopped
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 cups fine egg noodles
1 (1-pound) can tomatoes
1/2 teaspoon basil
6 ounces sliced monterey jack cheese
1/2 cup grated provolone cheese

1 cup sliced ripe olives
* or parmesan
Brown beef and onion in 10-inch skillet. Drain off fat. Mix in salt and pepper. Arrange noodles in layer over beef. Break up tomatoes and pour over noodles. Sprinkle with basil. Top with half the cheeses. Sprinkle with olives and layer remaining cheese on top. Cover and heat until it bubbles gently at edges. Simmer, covered 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Have you ever noticed how the best casseroles are always made with cheese? Ahhh — the wonderful aroma of melting cheese, blending smoothly and enhancing all other ingredients with its velvety richness. Irresistible everytime! And these nutritious main dishes are high in top quality protein, yet economical too. It's no wonder that casseroles made with cheese are tops with protein boosters, budget watchers and cooks who like the convenience of one dish dinners.

All cheese made in California begins with high quality cow's milk and so contains many of milk's nutrients in concentrated form. Specific nutrients vary with exact content and processing method used for each kind of cheese.

Try Crisp Almond Fingers

These slim little cookies, aptly called Crisp Almond Fingers, are just right to accompany fruit sherbet, ice cream or a compote of fall fruits. The recipe is an excellent one to keep on file for the holidays for a homemade gift for someone special.

You'll need two-thirds cup of diced roasted almonds, some for the dough, some to sprinkle over the cookies before baking. If you can't find them in your market, you can quickly prepare them yourself: Chop whole natural almonds coarsely using an inexpensive jar-type nut chopper, a curved-blade hand chopper and a wooden bowl or a French knife and cutting board. To roast, spread about 1/2 teaspoon margarine, butter or vegetable oil over surface of shallow pan. Add almonds in a single layer. Roast, stir — turning often, at 300 degrees for about 15 minutes or until they begin to turn color.

Crisp Almond Fingers
2 egg whites
1/2 cup soft butter or margarine
1/3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon salt

2/3 cup diced roasted natural (unblanched) almonds
Lightly beat egg whites. Set aside 1 tablespoon for tops of cookies. Cream butter and sugar well. Add egg whites, vanilla and almond extract. (Batter will look curdled.) Blend in flour and salt. Set aside 2 tablespoons almonds for tops of cookies; mix remainder into dough. Shape into a small rectangle on waxed paper, wrap in the paper, and chill thoroughly 1 to 2 hours. Roll dough out between sheets of waxed paper to a 7 1/2-inch square, 1/2 inch thick. With a floured knife, cut in thirds from one side, and into 8 slices from the other, making 24 fingers. Place on lightly greased baking sheet. Brush tops with the reserved egg white and sprinkle with almonds. Bake above oven center at 350 degrees 20 to 25 minutes, until very lightly browned. Cool on wire racks. Makes 24 cookies.

Cucina Cheese Casserole

6 ounces spaghetti
Boiling salted water
1/2 cup freshly grated romano cheese
2 cups grated monterey jack cheese
10 slices bacon, cut into 1/2-inch pieces
1 medium onion, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
1/2 cup dry red wine

1 (8-ounce) can whole kernel corn
Few dashes liquid red pepper seasoning
Few dashes liquid red pepper seasoning
1/4 teaspoon marjoram
* or parmesan
Drop spaghetti into boiling salted water. Return to boil. Boil gently about 8 minutes. Drain. Turn into buttered 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Sprinkle with romano cheese and half of monterey jack cheese. Fry bacon, onion and green pepper together in skillet. Discard drippings. Mix in tomato sauce, wine, drained corn, pepper seasoning and marjoram in skillet. Pour over spaghetti layer. Top with remaining jack cheese. Bake uncovered in 400 degree oven 25 to 30 minutes or until heated through. Makes 4 servings.

...beef, noodles and plenty of cheese go into this quickie

Two are better than one, especially when it comes to cheese as in the combination of grated romano and monterey jack in this tasty spaghetti dish called Cucina Cheese Casserole.

Ralphs

The Super market with Super Low prices

Here's the scoop

Baby beef puzzling?

Baby beef has debuted at the meat counter but the public is still puzzled. Questions about quality, flavor and preparation abound and have not been adequately answered.

Baby beef, in fact, is quite different from grain-fed beef and requires different preparation methods. Prices are as much as 25 percent below grain-fed beef, and baby beef has fewer calories and less saturated fat.

Using conventional beef preparation methods, some baby beef experimenters have been disappointed with results. Home economists at Sunset Magazine have studied these problems and have come up with some solutions.

The major differences between grain-fed and baby beef are that baby beef has a thin outside covering of fat, less marbling and a milder flavor. Less fat means that the meat dries out easily and may become tough. Mild flavor requires careful seasoning.

Because of its low fat content baby beef is best rare, says Sunset in its September issue. The use of melted butter or oil when browning, broiling or barbecuing helps prevent sticking and adds color to this light-red meat. Carefully seasoned and prepared, baby beef can taste surprisingly like veal.

The term baby beef is a new one without legal definition, according to Sunset home economists.

Marketers use the term to describe meat from calves 7 to 10 months old raised on a diet of milk and grass. Baby beef comes from calves weighing 400 to 600 pounds compared to grain-fed cattle of 1,000 to 1,100 pounds.

The meat is slightly different from either veal or older beef. Its flavor is milder than beef and stronger than veal. The cuts are often a good size for small families — smaller than beef and larger than veal. Baby beef is also marketed under the names of calf, light beef, California baby beef and mature veal.

Though appearance and taste of baby beef is different from grain-fed beef, the two are equal in nutritive value and protein, according to Sunset.

Baby beef can be cooked very much like grain-fed beef, but some adjustments are required for best results. When cooking a tender roast — rib and loin cuts — brush frequently with butter or oil to help browning. It's best cooked to rare. Since many baby beef roasts are too small to be listed on roasting charts, Sunset's home economists suggest that boneless baby beef roasts should be cooked 37 to 43 minutes per pound. Bone-in roasts take about 22 minutes per pound or to 140 degrees on a meat thermometer. Round and chuck cuts can be cooked in about the same manner as tender roasts but should be tenderized first. Instant tenderizers of wine-and-oil marinades work well.

Festive dessert

If you want a really festive dessert, try this on your guests. Coffee ice cream in the bottom of the dish, then a spoonful of creme de cocoa, a dollop of whipped cream and the final crowning glory of 1/4 cup of drained fruit cocktail.

Caribbean Creole cooking is super

Take a French chef, mix well with Caribbean Creole cooking, and the result is a tantalizing mixture of menus from Guadeloupe, that butterfly-shaped island where recipes are becoming one of the main exports.

Codfish Croquettes (serves 10)
1 lb. white codfish
2 T flour
chives
thyme, parsley garlic
red pepper
Boil the fish slowly for about 15 min. Remove bones and mash meat well. Add herbs. Mix the flour with a little water. Add to the fish-herb mixture, making a fairly thick paste. Beat well. Put teaspoons of the mixture into boiling oil and deep fry until nicely browned. The croquettes can be served the same day or even the day after cooking. The uncooked mixture will keep well in the refrigerator for at least 48 hours.

Poached Fish (servings depend on size of fish)
Choose a small firm fish. Soak for one hr. in salt water with bouquet garni or, if preferred, cook without soaking. In a half pan of water, place sliced onion, chives, thyme, parsley, bayleaf, crushed cloves and pepper. Boil 5 minutes. Put fish in and simmer 10 min. Add bayleaf, crushed cloves and pepper. Boil 5 minutes. Put fish in and simmer 10 min. Add 1/2 T oil and cook another 5 minutes. Squeeze a lemon over fish and serve immediately.

Sauce: to a small amount of fish stock, add chopped chives, garlic, parsley, capers, red pepper and lemon juice to taste.

Pork Stew (serves 5)
3 lbs. lean pork, diced
4 cloves garlic, chopped
6 peppercorns, chopped
3 cloves
juice of 1 lemon
2 T oil or shortening
3 bayleaves
red pepper
thyme
pinch of cinnamon

Marinate pork in garlic, peppercorns, bayleaf, cloves, salt, red pepper and oil for 24 hours. Melt oil or shortening in a casserole. Brown the pork with a few chopped chives and thyme. When nicely browned, cover slowly with warm water and cook over a high flame for 1 hr. Reduce heat and simmer for another 30 min. Five minutes before serving, add a pinch of cinnamon and the juice of half a lemon. Pour into a warmed serving dish and serve with rice and peas seasoned with chives, sugar and thyme. Pork always tastes better if flavoured with cinnamon and bayleaf. It is recommended to use chives when possible instead of onion.

Barbecued short ribs go eastern
Chunky beef short ribs open up like fans when prepared and barbecued in the far eastern manner. Surprisingly, perhaps, meaty short ribs are an excellent choice for barbecuing because they develop such a wonderfully rich flavor. The trick for successful grilling is cutting deep slits across the beef to insure even cooking and juicy, tender meat. They also require slow cooking so let the coals burn down a bit and grill at least six inches from the heat.

BEEF SHORT RIBS SATE
3 pounds lean beef short ribs, cut into 3-inch lengths.
1/4 cup chunky style peanut butter
1/2 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup sugar
3 large cloves garlic, minced
1/2 cup minced onion
2 teaspoons grated or minced ginger root
6 grinds black pepper
2 tablespoons vegetable oil

Trim excess fat from ribs. Make several deep cuts into beef, crosswise to grain, cutting almost to bone. Butts should be parallel, about 3/4-inch apart. Mix peanut butter with about 2 tablespoons soy sauce to get a paste. Stir in remaining soy sauce and all other ingredients except beef. Dip beef into peanut mixture, coating all surfaces, including deep into cuts. Place in dish and pour on any remaining peanut sauce. Marinate at least 1 hour (or up to 1 day if desired). Place on barbecue grill at least 6 inches above fairly slow coals. Barbecue boneside down 20 minutes. Turn meat to face coals and cook 35 to 40 minutes longer or until tender. If preferred, place on rack in shallow pan. Bake in 325° oven 1 1/2 to 2 hours or until tender. Makes 4 servings.

Physicians to attend medical symposium

Two-hundred doctors from Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange Counties will attend a two-day medical symposium to be held Friday and Saturday at Pomona Valley Community Hospital, Pomona.

Doctor John A. Gius, director of medical education at the hospital and general chairman of the symposium, said this meeting will serve to dedicate the Russell K. Pitzer Auditorium located in the new addition. Three major medical topics to be discussed in depth are: "The Diagnosis and Treatment of Life-Threatening Trauma in the Emergency Room"; "Management of Acute and Chronic Pulmonary Problems"; and "1975 Update of Cancer Management."

Participating guest faculty from area medical schools are: USC — Robert Eisenberg, M.D., associate clinical professor of medicine and medical director of pulmonary therapy department at Huntington Memorial Hospital; Robert F. Scharf, M.D., coordinator of emergency division residency at L.A. County Medical Center; and Joel Solomon, M.D., assistant clinical professor of medicine, and senior physician, Department of Hematology, City of Hope Medical Center.

Loma Linda School of Medicine — Robert Rosen, M.D., clinical professor, pediatrics, and chairman of Department of Pediatrics at City of Hope Medical Center.

U.C.L.A. — Daniel Simmons, M.D., Ph.D., professor of medicine and physiology, and chief, Division of Pulmonary Diseases.

U.C. at Irvine — Robert H. Yonemoto, M.D., associate clinical professor of surgery, and associate director, Department of General and Oncologic Surgery and the City of Hope Medical Center.

MILLER'S CARPET CARE

Folk dancing to be taught at Cal Poly

Fun, vigorous exercise, and cultural enrichment will be available to area residents interested in learning how to do some of the traditional folk dances of Greece and the Balkans being taught at Cal Poly Pomona this fall.

The classes begin Sept. 22, with Wednesdays reserved for beginners and Mondays for the intermediate level dancers. Classes on both nights are from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Richard Unciano, who also instructs at two other Los Angeles area colleges, plans to cover 30 to 40 dances, explain the rhythms and present some special features.

Fees for each class are $30, with two physical education credits available for qualified students. No partners are needed and no previous folk dance experience is required.

For details about the classes contact the Cal Poly extension office at 598-4391 or 595-7511.

Pilot Club to meet

The Pilot Club of Pomona Valley will meet at 7:15 p.m. Thursday for dinner at the Skyline Restaurant at Swan Lake, Mira Loma.

Marie Onti will give a demonstration in oil painting, and some of her students' works will be on exhibit.

Mrs. Floyd McNulty, chairman of the outreach division, is hostess for the event. Lula Hohensee will give the invocation, and Elsie Fossum will lead the pledge to the flag.

Elliot Gould to star in comedy

Elliott Gould has been signed by producers Don Devlin and Harry Gittes to play James Caan's reluctant safecracking associate in the Mark Rydell film "Harry and Walter Go To New York," a turn-of-the-century escapade which also stars Michael Caine. Rydell will direct with Tony Bill the executive producer.

In the original comedy screenplay by Robert Kaufman and John Byrum, Gould plays an aspiring vaudevillian, while Caan, his imaginative stage partner, has other plans for their talents when they get to the big town. Caine plays a flourishing and famous New York safecracker, the pair's new vocational inspiration.

Gould, originally a stage actor, had immediate success in such films as "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice" and Robert Altman's "M*A*S*H." He re-teamed with Altman for "The Long Goodbye" and Columbia Pictures' "California Split." Since making his film bow in "The Night They Raided Minsky's," Gould's other credits include "Getting Straight," "I Love My Wife" and "The Touch," in which he became the first American actor to work with Ingmar Bergman.

Gould also produced and starred in the movie version of Jules Feiffer's "Little Murders," in which he had starred on Broadway. Most recently, he completed starring roles in two Brut

Productions films, "Whiffs" and "I Will, I Will... For Now."

For his current film assignment as Walter, an 1890s song and dance man, Gould will be able to draw upon his musical comedy expertise, having starred in "I Can Get It For You Wholesale," "The Fantasticks" and "Dra. the Cat!"

"Harry and Walter Go To New York," a multi-million dollar production for release by Columbia Pictures, begins production Aug. 25 on location at an authentic 19th century prison, after which the company will return for three months of filming at the Burbank Studios.

'Harry and Walter go to New York'

Filming begins on comedy

Filming has begun on the Devlin/Gittes/Tony Bill Production of the Mark Rydell film, "Harry and Walter Go To New York." Don Devlin and Harry Gittes are coproducing the Columbia Pictures release to be directed by Rydell, with Bill the executive producer.

Starring James Caan, Michael Caine, Elliott Gould and Diane Keaton, the high-spirited comedy adventure is set in the East at the turn-of-the-century. In the original screenplay by Robert Kaufman and John Byrum, Caan and Gould are small-time vaudevillians who turn their talents to safecracking with help from a pretty revolutionary played by Keaton. Caine plays a plosive events that send them all racing back to New York.

The Mansfield Reformatory, built in the 1890s, was selected for the prison because of its accuracy to the period of the story.

scenes in a rock quarry outside of Columbus.

Theoni V. Aldredge (1974 Academy Award winner for "The Great Gatsby") is designing costumes of the belle époque. David Shire will score the motion picture and create specially researched vaudeville and operetta sequences to which Marilyn and Alan Bergman will supply lyrics.

Upon completion of filming in Ohio, "Harry and Walter Go To New York" came back to Hollywood for three months filming

Trumbull to direct fantasy

Douglas Trumbull has been signed by Stirling Silliphant and Henry Gellis to direct "Hiero's Journey," a futuristic fantasy screenplay by Silliphant which Gellis will produce with Silliphant the executive producer, for Columbia Pictures release.

Trumbull, head of the Paramount Pictures subsidiary, Future General Corporation, will utilize that company's special effects services in his direction of the new motion picture.

Among Trumbull's previous motion picture associations were "Silent Running," which he wrote and directed for Universal Pictures, Robert Wise's "The Andromeda Strain," on which he produced the special visual effects, and Stanley Kubrick's "2001: A Space Odyssey," for which he designed and supervised the photography of special visual effects.

"Hiero's Journey" is scheduled to begin production early in 1976 on locations in Canada and Hawaii and at the Burbank Studios, where Silliphant and Gellis are headquartered.

MGM signs newcomer

Screen newcomer Franklyn Ajave has been signed by producer-director Jerry Schatzberg to costar with Stockard Channing and Sam Waterston in "All American Girl" for MGM.

Filming entirely on location in Seattle and Tacoma, Ajave plays a young car thief who specializes in making duplicate ignition keys in the contemporary comedy-drama written by B. J. Perla.

Dramatic acting is a departure for young Ajave who is a stand-up comic and most recently headlined at the Comedy Store.

'Demon Seed' to be filmed

"Demon Seed," Dean Koontz' stunning novel of sensual terror will be brought to the screen as a Herb Jaffe production by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. It was announced recently by Daniel Melnick, senior vice president and worldwide head of production of MGM.

Melnick announced further that an exhaustive search is now underway for the actress to play the key role of Susan in the film which has been described as a computer age retelling of the classic Gothic epic of beauty and the beast.

St. Anthony's Parish

The first annual St. Anthony's Parish Picnic will be held 1-5 p.m. Sunday at Upland Memorial Park. All kinds of games are planned including baseball, volleyball, sack races and balloon toss. Prizes are promised for everyone attending.

Parishioners are asked to bring their own food and beverages. The picnic supper will be held about 4 p.m. Helping with the preparations are church secretary Dee DeFrank, Ben DeFrank, Larry Paprocki, Patty and Howard Moran, Joanne and Bob McKaughan, Jane Schaffner and Terry Hohl.

Redeemer Lutheran

The Rev. Stephen J. Kelly will be installed Sunday as Pastor of Redeemer Lutheran Church, 19360 Colima Road, Rowland Heights. (ALC) Sunday. Officiating at the 7:30 p.m. installation service will be Dr. Myrus L. Knutson, dean of the East San Gabriel Conference (ALC) and Dr. E. J. Cornils, executive vice president of the South Pacific District (ALC).

Members and friends of Redeemer are invited to attend the installation services and a potluck dinner which begins at 6:30 p.m. For more information and dinner reservations call Jeanne Bansner, (213) 965-3901.

Christ Lutheran

The Junior and Senior Youth of Christ Lutheran Church, 5500 Francis Ave., Chino announce their second annual "House of Horrors" to be held on the grounds and in the Parish Hall Oct. 29-31. A tract will be given out explaining why in Christ one need not fear.

Nobel conference

Dr. John Cobb Jr. of the School of Theology at Claremont will be one of six theologians who will join with 35 Nobel Laureates and participate in the Eleventh Annual Nobel Conference at Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minnesota, Oct. 1 and 2. Discussion topic of the conference will be "The Future of Science."

Sponsored by the Aid. Association for Lutherans (AAL) fraternal life and health insurance society of Appleton, Wisconsin, the gathering will be the second largest assembly of Laureates in history, the largest having occurred in the spring of 1962 at the White House when President and Mrs. Kennedy invited all the American Nobel Laureates to dinner.

The theologians, headed by Dr. Langdon Gilkey of the Divinity School at the University of Chicago, will participate in the Walter L. Rugland Assembly (named to honor the distinguished service of Rugland as former president of AAL) as well as in the Nobel meetings.

Dr. Cobb is Inghram Professor of Theology at the school of Theology at Claremont and Avery Professor at the Claremont Graduate School. Dr. Cobb was honored this year as an "Outstanding Educator of America" and also is the first theologian to be appointed a Woodrow Wilson Fellow at the Smithsonian Institution. Dr. Cobb will spend February to July, 1976 in Washington, D.C. at the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars.

The Nobel conferences have grown out of a long-time relationship between Gustavus Adolphus College and the Nobel Foundation with its headquarters in Stockholm, Sweden. Twenty-six Nobel Laureates attended the college's dedication of its Alfred Nobel Hall of Science in 1963 and expressed a desire that Nobel conferences should be held at Gustavus Adolphus College as part of the continuing memorial to Nobel.

Pilgrim Place

Dr. Jack W. Provonsha, physician, teacher, minister and author, will speak at Pilgrim Place in Claremont (Decker Hall) 10:30 a.m. Friday under the auspices of Pilgrim Place Town Meetings' Health and Welfare Committee. Dr. G. Merrill Lenox, chairman of the committee, will preside. Dr. Provonsha's topic will be "ethical issues in Living and Dying." Interested persons from outside of Pilgrim Place are invited. There is no admission charge. Dr. Provonsha will be introduced by Dr. Josiah Roth.

Some of the questions Dr. Provonsha will discuss are "Is it ever right to cry enough when it comes to striving to maintain existence?" "Is it ever right to accelerate the dying process?" "Who shall decide matters of life and death?" This lecture is the fifth in a series which has included the discussion of such topics as biofeedback, lower back pain and arthritis.

Dr. Provonsha, who holds both M.D. and Ph.D. degrees is associate clinical professor of psychiatry at Loma Linda University School of Medicine, Professor of Philosophy of Religion and Christian Ethics at Loma Linda University and guest lecturer at the School of Theology at Claremont. His special interest is in bioethics (moral issues in medicine).

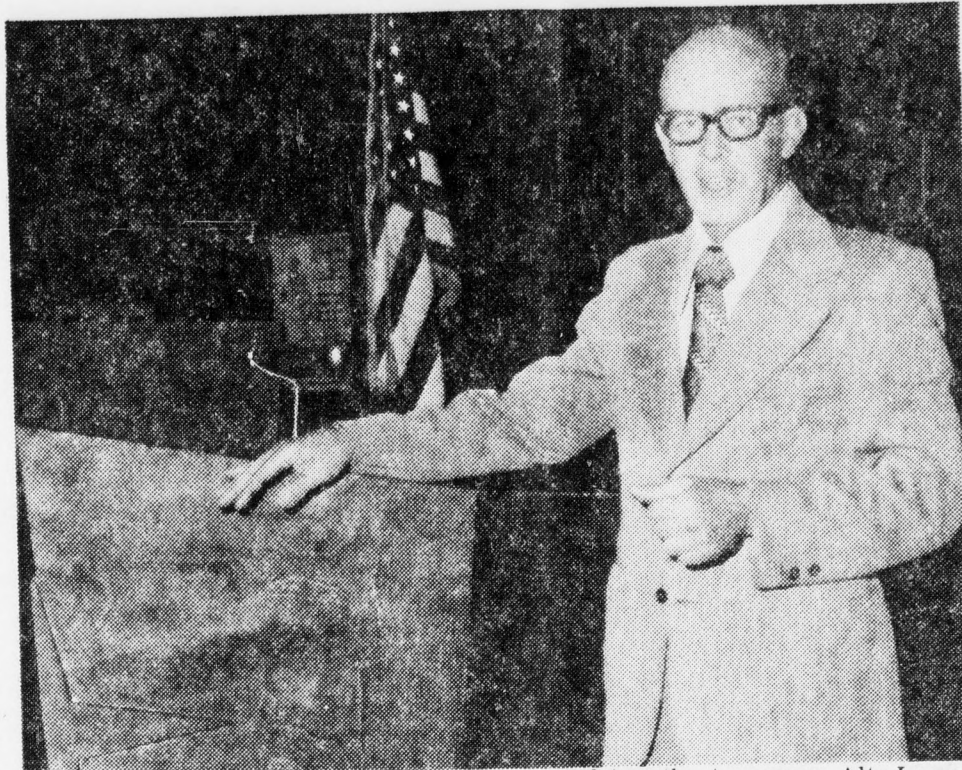

Children of the Day perform Sunday

Children of the Day, one of the Jesus-loving young musical groups from Southern California will perform 6 p.m. Sunday at Christian Chapel, 1920 S. Brea Canyon Cut-off Road, Walnut.

They began their ministry at Calvary Chapel in Santa Ana, and still maintain firm roots there. Their music is featured on "Maranatha! Music" records and tapes, and they have traveled all over the world spreading God's word and the love of Jesus Christ.

As a family, they travel with six (plus children): Peter and Hanneke Jacobs, Russ and Marsha Stevens and Kit and Wendy Freeman, all in their early 20s. The musical style of the Children of the Day is versatile, ranging from somewhat classical to folk-rock. Peter plays piano and guitar, Marsha and Wendy play guitar and Russ plays electric bass. Kit is the group's soundman and Hanneke completes the ministry with her behind-the-scenes work and prayers.

The name "Children of the Day" is from 1 Thess. 5:5: "Ye are all children of light and the children of the day." It exemplifies their purpose of telling everyone about the "light of the world," Jesus Christ.

Seventh Day Adventists announce new TV show

Pastor Jerry Sorensen of the Covina Seventh Day Adventist Church, serving La Verne and San Dimas, has announced the new television series, "Come Alive," hosted by producer-director of "Faith For Today Telecast," Roy C. Naden.

The 30-minute program released this fall and winter in Los Angeles and San Diego includes the regular appearance of the 12-voice musical group, The Heritage Singers U.S.A.

The program's fast-moving format, which calls for a live audience, guest soloists and interviews, will be aired in prime time, 9:30 p.m. Saturdays, 9 p.m. Sundays and 1 a.m. Thursdays, over KCOP channel 13.

Sorensen said. First show was Sept. 21.

Naden is author of "The Bible Answers," a new Bible course offered by Faith For Today, and the new Daniel and Revelation course in magazine format entitled, "Today's Life."

Naden was director of Adventist radio-television productions in Australia until 1971. The most notable of his various radio and television programs at that time was his television series, "Focus on Living."

Prior to his radio and television work, Naden spent 10 years as an evangelist in Australia. Sorensen said he is a dynamic speaker and gifted vocalist with a talent to inspire audiences with the true spirit of Christianity.

Teacher honored by church group

"An Evening With Miriam" was held recently by the Upland Brethren in Christ Women's Group for Miriam Frey who has returned to Rhodesia, Africa for a third term of four years teaching English in a teacher's college.

The event was held in Fellowship Hall of the Brethren in Christ Church in Upland.

Prior to her first trip to Africa, Miss Frey was with the Ontario-Montclair and Central School Districts.

She has been living with the J. Alvin Musser family in Upland during her eight-month furlough. Mrs.

Musser and Mrs. Elmer Sider, also of Upland, are sisters of the honored woman and each gave short tributes to her in the manner of "I remember this..."

A quartette of high school girls, the Maranatha Singers, entertained with guitars and flute which included some original compositions written by members. The girls were Chari Book, Ann Rasmussen, Bernice Shafer and Rosa Mellinger.

Miss Frey gave a slide presentation and spoke on "Traditions" in the area where she serves.

Pastor picked for fifth year

The Rev. Herbert L. Newland, pastor of the Mountain View Free Methodist Church of Upland, was appointed by Bishop Myron F. Boyd as pastor of the Upland congregation for a fifth year.

At the 86th session of the Southern California Arizona Conference the Rev. Newland was elected conference adult ministries director and elected by the Board of Christian Education to be its chairman.

There are 41 churches in the conference for which the Rev. Newland has leadership responsibilities. Mrs. Mary Newland was elected to be the director of the primary division of the children's ministries.

In Alta Loma

Bible Baptist church moves to fire house

After meeting for 10 months in the home of its pastor, the Rev. Albert Johnson, the Berean Bible Baptist Church has moved into the old Alta Loma fire house, corner of Lomita and Amethyst avenues, Alta Loma.

We "had 36 in the living room one day and couldn't fit anymore," said Johnson. His church has grown to 19 members and an average summer Sunday school attendance of 30 in its short existence.

The church is a mission church of the Whittier Bible Baptist Church. It plans to incorporate as an independent Bible Baptist church in October.

Johnson said the church plans to buy 5-10 acres for a church and eventually a Christian school, adding that there's "quite a bit" in the building fund already.

The Berean Bible Baptist Church is an independent Baptist church affiliated with the Bible Baptist Fellowship International of Springfield, Mississippi.

It is not associated with any convention, so the church is run by local members who decide local church policy. Sunday school materials and missions to be supported, Johnson said.

The church helps supports missions, including: —Pacific Coast Bible Baptist College in San Dimas.

—Missionary in the Philippines.

—Missionary in Chile.

—Temple Deaf College in Kansas City, Missouri, the only United States college training deaf for Christian ministry to other deaf people.

The local church, the only Baptist Church in Alta Loma, is named for a town mentioned in Acts 17:13.

Paul traveled to Berea where the people received his message with great eagerness, studying the scriptures every day to see whether it was as Paul said, according to Johnson.

"We wanted to be known as a Bible-believing church," he said. The church believes the Bible to be "the infallible word of God, the only sure thing we have for instruction in righteousness for daily living in this time," Johnson said.

Johnson and his wife Elanor moved to California from Brooklyn, New York about 15 years ago. They reside in Cucamonga.

Johnson graduated from Pacific Baptist Bible College in 1970. He started the Bible Baptist Church of Corona and served as associate pastor of the Valley Baptist Church of Rowland Heights and the Whittier Bible Baptist Church.

Sunday school for nursery school age through adults is held 9:45 a.m. Sunday morning service is at 11 and evening service is at 6. Wednesday service is at 7:30 p.m.

Heart Association has solutions

Heart disease in teenagers?

By Glenn A. Langer, M.D.
American Heart Association

Are teenagers eating their way to heart disease in adulthood? Unfortunately, many of them are. Young people are often overweight, and eating habits established early in life are hard to break. Obesity can be the springboard to many cardiovascular diseases — heart attack, high blood pressure (hypertension), stroke and congestive heart failure.

These are only medical terms to teenagers but they take on major significance when it's too late and the damage has been done.

Teenagers should take a good look at their family tree. Is there a family history of heart disease, dating back several generations? At what age did parents and grandparents contract heart disease? How serious was it? All these factors can provide insight to the health problems they will face in later life, and point up the way they should be living it today.

Many teenagers and college age young adults seldom eat breakfast, the most important meal of the day. Their lunches, even between-meal snacks, are often loaded with rich calories, high in cholesterol and other saturated fats, and lots of refined sugar. Dinner remains the one meal at which the family can get together. But for the busy teenager, time is a factor; the meal must be prepared, served and eaten in about an hour to accommodate all the things he or she has to do — homework, bowling, club activities, television. With today's packaged and frozen foods, a meal can be prepared and eaten in 10-20 minutes. Snacking may begin almost as soon as dinner ends and continue until bedtime. One shudders at the overload of calories.

Those perennial favorites of teenagers — grease-laden hamburgers and french fries, potato chips prepared in saturated fats, malted made with whole milk — all cause a steady build-up of excess fat in the blood which can lead to thickening and clogging of the arteries. When the openings in these tubes carrying blood to the brain and heart become blocked, stroke or heart attack eventually result. The danger is that this potential killer may lie dormant until a person reaches adulthood. Then the damage has been done, and it's too late to prevent this life-threatening blockage.

Avoiding foods high in saturated fats doesn't mean taking all the fun out of eating for the teenager, however. It simply means substituting some foods for others which are equally satisfying. Pizza, a popular snack, is fine but skip the sausage and try onions, mushrooms or anchovies.

Instead of potato chips, eat fresh nuts, raisins and other dried or whole fruits; popcorn without butter (try margarine), sherberts and ice milk in place of ice cream.

The teen years and earlier are none too soon to be thinking of the type of nutrition that will lower the risk of heart disease later in life. Of the 750,000 heart attack victims annually — one third of the men in the prime of life — do not succumb because of what they ate during their middle or later years. It all began many years before when they embarked and stayed on a typically American diet rich in saturated fat and cholesterol — overeating, smoking too much, too little exercise and allowing the pounds to creep up to the overweight level.

From autopsies performed on American soldiers killed in action several years ago, doctors were surprised to discover that more than 75 per cent already had signs of beginnings of atherosclerosis in their coronary arteries. The soldiers' average age was only 20. Other researchers have found similar fatty deposits in the arteries of teenagers and even children. Is this not an indication that parents should become more aware of the high saturated fat and high cholesterol problem and take steps to do something about it early in their child's life?

Diet shouldn't be the only concern of the heart-conscious youth. A regular exercise program is important too and helps burn up fats and keeps bodies young. Not dull exercise like calisthenics; they are good for growing bodies but young people quickly lose interest.

Swimming, dancing, bike riding and long walks in winter and summer are better.

For more information on this subject, call or write the American Heart Association, Greater Los Angeles Affiliate, 2405 West 8th St., Los Angeles, Calif., 90057; (213) 385-4231 and request their free copy of "Healthy Eating for Teenagers." Other free brochures containing low cholesterol diets and meal planning designed to keep healthy hearts healthy are also available.

Writers' contest

The Claremont Branch of the National League of American Pen Women is sponsoring an essay contest for junior and senior high school students.

The objective is to encourage students to plan about the future of the United States.

The title of the essays is to be "Goals for a Better America."

The contest starts Friday with the essays due to be turned in by Oct. 25. Cash prizes will be awarded. Further information is available by calling Mrs. F. W. Riddington at 986-6158.

The National League of American Pen Women is an organization of women in professional status who are writers, artists or composers. Organized in Washington, D. C., in 1897, the purpose of the league is to bring together for their mutual benefit women engaged in creative work with pencil, pen or brush.

The Claremont Branch was organized in 1950 and is celebrating its 25th year. The present membership includes artists, writers and musical composers living in Upland, Ontario, Claremont and Covina.

Flu shot can save miseries

No matter what it really is, more than a million Californians complain about the "flu" during an average winter. In a bad year, half of the population — about 10 million — may be briefly bedded down with fever, cough and general misery.

How much of this malaise is genuine influenza — Type A or B, Hong Kong, English, etc. — no one really knows. Epidemiologists in the state Department of Health are trying to find out but the job is difficult.

State Health Director Jerome Lackner, M.D. says part of the problem is that doctors are not required to report influenza as they do VD, measles, and other communicable diseases. But the most important factor is the multitude of other virus infections that may be mistaken for flu. For example, Lackner said, nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea signal some common types of infections but these symptoms are not typical with influenza.

Often, he said, the real flu will develop into pneumonia or other respiratory complications before the victim seeks medical help. By then, it's too late either to diagnose or to worry about the original illness. Excess deaths in the population from pneumonia and other respiratory infections, coupled with school and job absenteeism, are good indications that an epidemic is underway, he said, but there is no sure way to tell how much of the problem is due to influenza.

Each year the state health department relies on absenteeism from selected school districts and pneumonia and influenza death reports from 11 cities in the state to gauge the extent of the influenza season. In addition, laboratory tests on blood and other specimen collected from suspected influenza cases are used to identify the specific influenza virus circulating in the state.

This fall, for the second year, flu shots will be available free — or for no more than a dollar — from local health departments. Anyone 60 or over and people with chronic conditions, such as heart disease, respiratory problems, and diabetes, are eligible to receive flu vaccine.

Lackner hopes more people in the high risk categories will obtain flu shots in 1975 than the number who appeared at clinics in 1974.

HEALTH NEWS

PAIN IS THE SIGNAL: BURSITIS IS THE PROBLEM

By DR. W.P. HELZER, D.C.

Recent sports stories have indicated that an ever-increasing number of athletes have been sidelined due to bursitis. Is this a new disease caused by modern day diet or stress? Of course not.

For a long time baseball players, golfers, etc. have been taken away from their games because of sore arms, frozen elbows, and stiff knees. Many of the difficulties were, in fact, bursitis. It's just that only recently the sportsmen have begun to call the problem by its right name.

It should be noted that many trainers and coaches are specifically calling on the modern Doctor of Chiropractic to get men back on the field or links as quickly as possible.

Of course, bursitis isn't a condition experienced only by athletes. Persons in their thirties and forties, especially the housewife, are particularly vulnerable to attacks.

And it isn't a condition that an individual can effectively self-treat through time and inactivity.

Nor can you work an affected limb back into condition.

As a matter of fact, bursitis left untreated gets worse with activity and the pain can become so intense that throbbing discomfort can occur even when the limb is at rest. Many feel that modern Chiropractic treatment and care is the only answer for fast relief and to get to the source of the difficulty.

Remember, we've been talking about sportsmen. Naturally, when persons who are less active encounter the problem they are more prone to serious difficulty. And you don't have to be on the golf links or at the bowling alley or on the baseball diamond to have a bursitis attack. A person can be afflicted by merely stretching in the morning after rising. A slip or trip can do it, or lifting something overhead.

The long and short of it is that bursitis can affect almost anyone. And once it does, treatment is necessary.

This thing that troubles me the most is the fact that untreated bursitis can lead to serious, permanent disabilities such as arthritis.

In other words, don't take a chance with bursitis.

Let the pain be your reminder that you need effective treatment that is aimed at permanent correction of the problem.

FORMAL TAX ELECTION NOTICE
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to the qualified electors of the Upland School District of San Bernardino County, State of California, that in accordance with law, an election will be held on the 4th day of November, 1975, in said District at which election there will be submitted the following measure:

"Shall there be authorized an increase in the revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance in the amount of Sixty Dollars and No Cents ($60.00), such increase to be effective in the Upland School District for the school years 1976-77 through 1980-81, the revenues of which are to be used for the purpose of general school maintenance and operation and capital outlay?"

This increase would constitute an increase for the school year 1976-77 from approximately Nine Hundred Eighty-two Dollars and No Cents ($982.00) to approximately One Thousand Forty-two Dollars and No Cents ($1,042.00) per unit of average daily attendance.

The proposed increase of the revenue limit of $60.00 per unit of average daily attendance will authorize an increase in the estimated maximum general purpose tax rate of the district in the first year 1976-77 from approximately $1.27 to approximately $1.57 for each One Hundred Dollars ($100) of assessed valuation of property. Said Election shall be consolidated with the General District Election of same date.

DATED this 14th day of August, 1975.

Repertory actors rehearsing

Repertory in Los Angeles at the Mark Taper Forum of the Music Center has begun its first phase of development with the signing of 12 actors who are currently in rehearsal for two productions which will launch the Taper's experiment in rep this fall. Taper Artistic Director Gordon Davidson is now staging both plays — one, a madcap turn-of-the-century American farce, "Too Much Johnson" and the other, a new American play, "The Shadow Box" (formerly titled "From the City of Hope"). "Too Much Johnson" opens its engagement Sept. 25 and is joined in rep by "The Shadow Box" presented in its World Premiere on Oct. 30. The two plays will then play in repertory thru Dec. 21.

The initial company features: (alphabetically) Mary Carver, Al Checco, Frank Geraci, Rose Gregorio, Cynthia Harris, David Huffman, Zale Kessler, Laurence Luckinbill, Simon Oakland, Brad Rearden, Marge Redmond, and Tom Rosqui. The actors who will make the performance transition from early American comedy to contemporary drama have a broad range of experience. Mary Carver was featured in the John Houseman production of "Between Two Thieves" and in Ionesco's "The Chairs" for the Theatre Group at UCLA and for the past four years has combined her acting career with a teaching role in the Theatre Department at USC.

Marge Redmond is another veteran of the Theatre Group of UCLA, where she appeared with Carroll O'Connor in O'Connor's play "The Ladies of Hanover Tower." Widely known by television audiences for her Emmy-nominated role of Sister Jacqueline in "The Flying Nun," she most recently starred in the National Company of "Last of the Red Hot Lovers" with her husband, actor Jack Weston. Her major film credits include Billy Wilder's "The Fortune Cookie," "The Trouble with Angels," and the forthcoming film of Alfred Hitchcock's "Family Plot." Laurence Luckinbill returns to the Taper, where he has played principal roles in two New Theatre For Now events — "Tadpole" and "A Meeting by the River." For his performance in Martin Duberman's play "The Memory Bank," he received the New York Critics Award in 1970. He originated the role of Hank in "The Boys in the Band" and repeated the role in the London production and in the film version. His New York stage career began in 1963 in "A Man for All Seasons" with Paul Scofield, and he has appeared in more than a dozen play-off-Broadway. His films include "Such Good Friends" and the forthcoming film "Money." His TV credits include the Emmy Award-winning two-part episode of "The Senator" and such co-starring assignments as "Winner Take All" with Shirley Jones and "Death Sentence" with Cloris Leachman seen as TV movies.

Simon Oakland last appeared on Broadway in George Furth's "Twigs" with Sada Thompson. He has been seen regularly on television on such series as Toma and Night Stalker. Motion picture audiences will remember him for his performances in "Psycho," "West Side Story," "The Sand Pebbles," and "I Want to Live."

Cynthia Harris was a charter member of Joseph Chaikin's Open Theatre and appeared in the original New York and London companies of "America Hurrah!" and "The Serpent." Broadway audiences saw her as the karate-chopping wife in the Tony Award-winning musical "Company," and in "Best Laid Plans," "Ash Wednesday" and "Natural Affection." Her films include "Isadora" with Vanessa Redgrave and "Up the Sandbox" with Barbara Streisand, along with numerous guest-star roles on television.
